

Nanjing University of Chinese Medicine

Nanjing International Acupuncture Training Center
WHO Collaborating Center on Traditional Medicine

NJUCM Short-term Programs

Regular Short-term Courses

■ Introductory Acupuncture Course (from March to May)

Course Details:

- *Basic TCM theory.
- *Basic acupuncture theory, basic manipulation techniques and 120 common acupoints.
- *Diagnosis and treatment of 25 common diseases according to TCM channel and syndrome differentiation, as listed by World Health Organization (WHO), i.e. stroke, headache, stomach ache, dysmenorrhea, common cold.

Duration: Total of around 300 teaching hours, including 100 hours in clinical teaching and practice.

■ Advanced Acupuncture Course (from September to November)

Course Details:

- *Extensive learning and application of basic acupuncture theory
  - *Systematic introduction to the Channels and Collaterals Theory
  - *Extensive knowledge and application of 250 acupoints
  - *Syndrome differentiation, diagnosis and treatment of 45 common diseases according to Chinese medicine basic theory as listed by WHO, i.e. rhinitis, bronchitis, asthma, chronic gastritis. This course emphasizes case discussion.
- Duration: Total of around 300 teaching hours, including 100 hours in clinical teaching and practice.

Designed programs

■ TCM Clinical Training Program (2 weeks to 3 months)

Course Details:

- *The course contents cover general clinical practice, and include the lectures as required on subjects such as gynecology, neurology, cardiology, urogenital system diseases with treatment of herbal medicine and acupuncture.

■ TCM Culture Experience Program (2 weeks to 3 weeks)

Course Details:

- This course includes basic TCM theory and practice, as well as Cultural experience events.

■ Special Short-term Courses

Course Details:

- *Lectures are provided in English or Chinese.
  - *Clinical practice is held in small groups, in one of our teaching hospitals in Nanjing.
- The Special Short-term Courses are individualized and unique, covering a variety of subjects in TCM that is offered for student groups of more than 10.

List of Special Short-term Courses

1. The Theory of the Classic Nei-jing (Inner Canon) and TCM Clinical Application
2. The Medical Theory for Spleen-Stomach Diseases in the School of Meng-He and Clinical Applications
3. Application of Integrative Chinese and Western Medicine for Cancer Treatment
4. New Theories and Techniques in TCM Conservative Therapy for Gonarthrosis
5. Combination therapy of herbal medicine, acupuncture needling and bone healing manipulation
6. Infantile Tuina-massage
7. Schools of Tuina-massage
8. Tuina-massage Therapy for TCM Orthopedics and Traumatology
9. Tuina-massage Treatment for Common Internal and Gynaecological Diseases
10. TCM Health-Preservation Qigong Exercise (Yi-Jin Jing /Wu-Qin Xi/Ba-Duan Jing/Liu Zi Jue)
11. Shao-lin Nei-gong Study
12. TCM Qigong Study
13. Wu-Qin Xi and Health-Preservation Course
14. TCM Health-Preservation and Rehabilitation (H&R) Exercises
15. Study of Ancient and Classical Acupuncture Techniques
16. Specialized Therapy in Acupuncture and Moxibustion
17. Cosmetic Acupuncture
18. TCM Health-Preservation
19. Chinese Medicinal Diet

Enrolment Criteria

Details for each individual course as below:

Introductory Acupuncture Course : For those who love acupuncture and have a medical background.

Advanced Acupuncture Course : Candidates studied the introductory acupuncture course or got the equivalent knowledge of TCM studies. Certified transcripts or certified proof of academic qualifications are required in application.

Flexible Short-term Course application is open to the qualified and experienced practitioners with sufficient knowledge of TCM theory. Certified transcripts or certified proof of qualifications are required in application.

Special Short-term Courses are only available to group of students with at least 10 individuals. All individuals are required to be qualified, experienced practitioners with sufficient knowledge of TCM theory. Certified transcripts or certified proof of qualifications are required in application.

Application

Application forms are available from the university website

<http://iec.njucm.edu.cn/en/detail/433.html>

Please send the completed application form, together with relevant certified copies of transcripts or qualifications, details of previous experience through

njuiec@njucm.edu.cn (Ms. Gao) or njuiec@hotmail.com (Ms. Hui)

Tuition Fees

Click to view through the website of

<http://iec.njucm.edu.cn/en/inside/13/86.html>

Scan to view

Contact us

The Address of Xianlin campus: No. 138 Xianlin Rd., Nanjing, China

The Address of Hanzhong campus: No. 282 Hanzhong Rd., Nanjing, China

Tel: 86-25-86798167

Email: njuiec@njucm.edu.cn (Ms. Gao) njuiec@hotmail.com (Ms. Hui)

Website: www.njucm.edu.cn <http://iec.njucm.edu.cn/>

